How to Get Younger Looking Skin

The fountain of youth may not exist, but you can have a pretty good substitute by carrying out the right skin care regimen. People say beauty is only skin deep, and perhaps this is a good reason why you should take care of your skin and keep it young looking. There is no magic formula for smooth, firm, wrinkle-free skin but you can get younger looking skin by following the tips below.

Diet

A nutritious, balanced diet that is rich in fruits and vegetables is essential if you want to have younger looking skin. Foods that are rich in antioxidants, vitamins and minerals will keep your skin looking radiant and youthful. Vitamin C is beneficial to the skin. Whole-grain bread, oats, mangoes, tomatoes, avocado, nuts, fish, etc. keep the skin supple. Dairy products like milk and cottage cheese help fight aging.

Avoid fad diets that lead to sudden weight loss that could cause your skin to sag. Fad diets are also notorious for making the skin look dull and old.

Don't forget to hydrate your body by drinking at least 8 glasses of water a day. Without adequate water, your skin will look dry and tight. Skin that is well hydrated looks younger.

Exercise

Exercise stimulates blood circulation and rejuvenates the skin. Cardiovascular exercises help maintain a healthy body and skin. Choose an exercise that you enjoy so that you will stick to it.
